Asian Studies Research Award

Submit your research or creative project!

Award includes a small scholarship

Open to all UA undergraduates

Deadline January 29

The 2016 Asian Studies Research Award, along with a $150 scholarship, is given to the UA undergraduate whose research or creative project related to Asia is selected by a faculty committee. Submissions must have a substantial engagement with an aspect of Asia. All students are also encouraged to submit projects to present at the UA Undergraduate Research Symposium in the spring.

Submit the paper or project by January 29, 2016, to sramey@ua.edu. All submissions must include a cover page with name, CWID, email address, and a 3-4 sentence summary of the paper or project. For creative projects that are not in a paper format, students should submit a 1-2 page description of the project and its academic basis along with appropriate documentation (e.g., photos, video, audio files). The Research Award and the Asian Studies Outstanding Student Award will both be presented in an event around Honors Week in April.
