Translating Practice: Chinese Medicine in the West

Awards Reception and Honors Week Lecture including

Presentation of 2017 Asian Studies Outstanding Student and Research Awards

Lecture by
Prof. Sonya Pritzker
UA Dept. of Anthropology

This talk will introduce the traditions and practices of Chinese medicine, and the history of their transmission in the West. Based on research carried out in a school of Chinese medicine in California in the early 2000s, the central role of translation as a living practice of interaction will be discussed.
